

TEST PREP SEMINAR

Everything you always wanted to know about the PSAT, SAT, ACT, and SAT 2, but were afraid to ask...

Bespoke Education, Irvington
Thursday, September 16th, 2010 from 7-8:30pm

Join Tim Levin, Founder and CEO of Bespoke Education, for a discussion about test preparation. Learn how to approach this process strategically and without anxiety. You will leave this event with the most comprehensive and up-to-date information about what standardized tests to take, how they differ from each other, and how to prepare for them over the next few months to years. Families who have attended this seminar in the past have found it invaluable in helping to demystify the process.

Tim Levin, founder and CEO of Bespoke Education, Inc. will discuss the ACT, SAT, and SAT 2 exams, when to take them, how many to take, and how to choose among the tests. While growing up in New York City, Tim attended The Horace Mann School for fifteen years. After graduating from Yale College, he taught at a boarding school in Massachusetts and then at The Fieldston School in the Bronx. Prior to founding Bespoke Education, he worked in the corporate offices of Kaplan Test Prep helping to train teachers and write course curricula. He is the author of Kaplan's GRE Biology retail book, and he has been an adjunct professor in the Math and Science Departments of both SUNY's Fashion Institute of Technology and Columbia University's Teachers College. Tim also holds a Masters Degree in Education from Teachers College. For nearly fifteen years, he has tutored in a variety of subject areas and for nearly every standardized test offered.

The seminar will start promptly at 7:00 p.m.

Note that this seminar is offered free of charge to families of 9th thru 12th graders.

REGISTRATION REQUIRED - Students and parents are welcome!
